In 2000, with my sister, we decided to live from our passion. At first, we made crafts with silk. In 2006 we started patchwork and learning specific techniques. Silk has always been "our material" so it was natural for us to continue working on it, although it is not frequently used in textile art. Bringing together these two skills, silk painting and textile art, has opened up a huge space for experimentation. So much so that we have explored and developed our own techniques for working with this material, thereby becoming trainers.

We had the opportunity to share our passion at many exhibitions in Europe and the United States.
